THE COSMOPOLITAN THEATRE.

THE COSMOPOLITAN THEATRE.

When a Tribune reporter visited the Cosmopolitan Theatre (the o.d Metropolitan Concert Garden), at Fory-first-st, and Broadway, last evening, he found the old place with its square galleries transformed into a neat theatre. All around men were busy putting down carpets and putting up seats. The stage was set with the first scene of "Fritz in Ireland," with which the theatre will be opened to-morrow hight. All the place was bright and warm and light, and the rich blue hanglegs harmonizing with the light wood presented a pleasing effect. Under the extended horseshoe gall-ries there is a space eighteen feet wide which will be reserved as a loyer. There are three pairs of prescentam boxes on each side of the stage, gorgeous with crimson velvet and lace. One novel feature about them is the incline of their floors, and another is an opening about five feet wide behind the column supporting the proscenium arch, which gives those in the boxes an uninterrupted view of the entire stage. "Macbeth," "The hierry Wives of Windsor" and the characters of the "Midsummer Night's Dream" disport themselves in red and gold, and the space between the rows is so great that a belated play-goer can get to his seat without making half the people in the row get up to allow him to pass.

The accounting the summer. The garden on the roof will be retained, and here in the sultry nights of summer soda water will fizz and beer will foam to notes of the latest counc opera floating up from below. There are seats for 700 people on the orchestra and parquet floors and for 600 in the gallery. The restaurant will be under the management of F. Donnarumma & Son, and altogether the place will be well adapted for a pleasant even ng.

To be Placed in the row and a Archbishon

To be placed in the cathedral value. The transfer of the remains of Archbishop Hughes to the vaults under the high altar of the Cathedral in Fifth-ave, is likely to be followed at some future date not yet decided upon by the transfer of the remains of two other distinguished Catholic prelates who formerly exercised the episcopal authority here. The remains of the Rev. Dr. John Connolly, second bishop of New-York, who died on Pebruary 6, 1825, and those of his successor in the office the Rev. Dr. John Dubois, who died on December 20, 1842, still lie buried in the graveyard that surrounds the old Cathedral at Mott and Prince-sis. Tue-day last was the fifty-eighth anniversary of the former's death; and a proposition is now under consideration by the dooesan authorities to have the remains of both prelates transferred up town and placed alongside of those of Archbishop Hughes. Bishop Connolly ranks as second Beshop of New-York, but he was in reality the first Catholic prelate who ever entered upon the duties of the office and lived within the city limits, as his predecessor, the Rev. Dr. Richard Luke Coleanen, was consecrated in Rome to 1808, and died in Italy before an opportunity was afforded him to come to this country. Bishop Connolly's episcopate extended from November, 1814, to February, 1825, and that of Bishop Dudos from October, 1826, to December, 1842. The latter was succeeded by Archbishop Hughes, who had been his coadjutor during the four years previous. TO BE PLACED IN THE CATHEDRAL VAULT

CAPTURE OF A STAGE-FARE THIEF.

Five ladies entered a Fifth-ave, stage at Thirtymath-st, yesterday afternoon and handed their fares to a young man, who out them in his pocket.

At Twenty-third-st, the driver stopped his horses and missted that the fares should be paid. A crowd gathered. The young man left the stare and started rapidly through I wenty-third-st. Sergeant Westerveit, of the Twenty-minh Precinct, caught the fugitive after a sharp chase. Several hundred people had gathered by this time, and the street was blocked. In the excitement the ladie-left the stage and disappeared. In the Jefferson Market Police Court the prisoner gave his name as Otto Gunther, age twenty-three, of No. 142 East Houston-st.
Justice Gardner held him in $300 bail for trial. Mr.
Shepherd, of the Twenty-third-sirect Stage Line, said that in August, 1881, Gunther was arrested by Inspector Byrn-s's detectives for the same offence, and he served nine months in prison. He confessed his guit to the Inspector, and said that he frequently made $5 a day by keeping fares. CAPTURE OF A STAGE-FARE THIEF.

SPORT ON THE ICE AT CENTRAL PARK. The Central Park lakes were thronged with skaters vesterday. The ice was much better than it has been for the last two weeks, and it thawed very little during the day. A great portion of the skaters were school boys and girls. It being Saturday, they were able to devote the entire day to the exhibitation sport. Between 3 and 4 o check the exhitarating 2sport. Between 3 and 4 o clock, the number of skaters on the large lake was as great as number of skaters on the large lake was as great as it has been at any time the present winter. One expert skater continually drew large crowds to watch him, and kept the police busy dispersing them. Finally, while cutting a dimedit figure, he slipped and fell, breaking a leg. The St. Andrew's and the New-York Curling Clubs played a sharply contested game that did not close until 6 in the evening. It was won by the St. Andrew's by two points, the score standing 43 to 41. The St. Andrew's will play the Caledonians to-morrow afternoon for a national medal.

THE BRIDGE NOT YET OPEN.

THE BRIDGE NOT YET OPEN.

As the belief prevailed to some extent that the East River Bridge was to be opened to foot passengers yesterday, a Tribune reporter called at the bridge wise not yet open for foot travel, as d was no. likely to be for several weeks. "We could put the planking right slown and let people over, but there are other things to be a nsidered," said the engineer. "We are putting down the planking as rapidly as possible, and then there is thorough painting to be done. The riveting will take sometime. The planking on the land spans is well along, and that on the main span has advanced somewhat, but it would discommode the workmen to allow passengers on while the stays are being to allow passengers on while the stays are being put up and the planking put down, and it would be dangerous for the people as well. In a few days a large force of painters will be at work on the wood-work."

LAWYERS SPRINGING AT EACH OTHER.

A lively scene occurred yesterday in the United States Circuit Court-room. Junge Coxe had been hearing an argument on a mo ion by Robert Mazet, the counsel for David P. Secord, who is imprisoned in the Ludlow Street Jail on a judgment in the Circuit Court, for the release of his client under the Fourteen Day act. A recess was taken, and just after the Judge had left the bench a dispute arose between Mazet and Edward Seering, the opposing counsel, one of them accusing the other of having made statements to the Judge that were not warranted by the facts, After several angry remarks had pa-sed, the two lawyers sprang toward each other a- it to come to blows, but they were separated by Deputy Marshat offax. The carnings of the company baye been recently at the rate of about $1,600,000 a year, and the cost of operating its lines has been about two-thirds of the gross carnings. A large reduction in expenses is expected to be made by the practical consolidation of the company with the Western Union. Offices will be united as rapidly as possible and the number of operators reduced. Western Union officers say that the cost of working the newly acquired lines will be very small, because that company will not be obliged to increase greatly its present force. The lease is to go into effect imendately, but the arrangement of details is likely to take some time.

its present force. The lease is to go into enter the mediately, but the arrangement of details is likely to take some time.

All the existing contracts of the Mutual Union, both for the sending of press dispatches and for leased wires, are to observed by the lessee company. The Mutual Union has a large number of these contracts. The company's officers assert that all of them are sources of profit, but it is understood that a few of them were objected to by the Western Union. No exception was made, however, in the lease ratified yesterday.

The Mutual Union Company was chartered in October, 1880. The original capital of $600,000 was increased to $10,000,000, and it-lines were extended far beyond the first intentions of its promoters. It has now about 46,000 miles of wire, and it connects all the principal cities between Portland, Maine, and St. Paul, Minn, and Kansas City, Kan. A majority of the company's stock was placed about five months ago in the hands of three voting trustees. It was said at the time that the purpose of the action was to prevent the Western Union from obtaining control of the company by purchase of its stock. Jay Gond had previously bought a considerable part of the stock, and the placing of the control in trust was the signal for the berinning of numerous suits be ween the Western Union and the Mutual Union companies. By the agreement now entered upon all this litigagation will be brought to a close at once.
